Syracuse, Italy:

A historical and archaeological gem, Syracuse is the capital of the province of the same name in the south-east of Sicily. The city offers many attractions and places of interest in which one can experience another side of Sicilian character.

Venice, Italy:

A classic. This Italian city has been a favourite by visitors for centuries. Hugged by countless canals, walking through this medieval city is like taking a trip into the past. Dotted with little islands and its own lagoon, Venice is one of the most iconic cities in the world and is truly, unique.

Dubrovnik, Croatia:

Located towards the south of the Croatian Riviera, Dubrovnik is one of the most visited cities in Croatia and is blessed with year-round sunshine and clear blue waters of the Adriatic Sea. This picturesque, fortified coastal city is also a very popular choice for filmmakers, having used Dubrovnik's dramatic beauty in many blockbuster movies and international series.

Corfu, Greece:

The Greek island of Corfu runs across the borders of both Greece and Albania, and is a favourite destination in the Mediterranean for its sunshine and rugged beauty. This idyllic island attracts many families for its family-friendly activities, but also has an abundance of other sites for everyone to enjoy.

Cephalonia, Greece:

This Greek island is particularly famous for its natural beauty, which boasts sandy coves and rugged landscapes. Its limestone cliffs and secluded beaches make this island picture-perfect. Its capital, Argostoli, is a popular visit which offers shops, nearby beaches and glimpses of typical Greek island life.
